Santa's Gift Factory
MAKING CHRISTMAS IN TIME

Due to the growth of the world population over the last decades, Santa's workshop has been dealing with an increasing workload. Kids all over the world are on their best behavior and deserve to be rewarded for this on Christmas. Santa makes a point of it to make this possible year after year.

Moreover, he cares a lot about good working conditions for his elves. So in order to keep their workload manageable, he decided to turn to IRIS for a solution to make his internal processes run smoother. After all, there's a lot of paperwork behind Operation Christmas. Thanks to IRISXtract™, Santa now automatically processes kids' wish lists, incoming invoices and delivery notes.

THE SOLUTION:

Every morning when the post arrives, the elves scan in the letters using IRISPowerscan™. From where they get imported into IRISXtract™ Digital Mailroom (hosted in a polar cloud). The documents then get automatically separated, classified by document type and sent to the right department. These semi-structured and unstructured documents range from drawings, wish lists and personal letters to invoices and delivery notes.

Wish lists get further processed in the "Department of Cravings and Desires", where all line items are extracted. The drawings and personal letters go to Santa's personal mailbox for bedtime reading. And the invoices go to "Santa's Extraordinary Accounts Payable Department" where the data is automatically extracted and uploaded into SAP (Santa's All-knowing Planner).

For the production of toys in Santa's workshop, a lot of resources are needed. These get ordered throughout the year and result into thousands of invoices every month. A powerful robust tool such as IRISXtract™ really comes in handy then. Especially the increased speed of the new version five does wonders for the elves in the Accounts Payables department. What used to be a full-time job for 10 elves to manually enter invoice data, has now become a half-time job for 2 elves.

Also at the Department of Cravings and Desires IRISXtract™ has improved the processing times and quality a lot. There however, they especially value that IRISXtract™ answers all their needs in terms of security. When dealing with such personal and confidential documents, this is of the highest importance.

> " What makes IRISXtract™ so amazing for us is that the elves can now focus on more value-added activities. The stress around the holidays is gone. Thanks to the speed and quality of this new solution, we now have time again for snowball fights, reindeer races and breaks with milk and cookies! "
